Hamilton Mikes, P.A. Files Multimillion Dollar Embezzlement Lawsuit Against American Property Management Services

NAPLES, FL (January 21, 2022) — Hamilton Mikes, P.A. filed a multimillion dollar lawsuit against American Property Management Services (APMS) alleging fraud and embezzlement on behalf of more than 34 condominium and homeowner’s associations throughout Southwest Florida.

The suit alleges that the owners of APMS stole millions of dollars in insurance proceeds and associations funds. They perpetrated the fraud by converting possession and control of the associations’ bank accounts, unilaterally settling insurance claims, and concealing their criminal acts with lies and falsified documents. The company has been served and has until February 2 to respond to the complaint. If none is received, the law firm will request a permanent injunction and access to all remaining funds in the associations’ accounts and all bank records. Then begins the process of determining the full amount of losses by each association and recovery of their assets.

The owners of APMS are also currently under investigation by the United States Secret Service, the Internal Revenue Service, the United States Postal Service and local law enforcement.

Jason Hamilton Mikes, managing shareholder at Hamilton Mikes, P.A., is currently conducting Town Hall meetings for community residents to provide updates on the litigation and guidance on establishing sources of operating capital and filing claims against crime and employee theft insurance policies.

“This is a frustrating situation for residents and they are angry,” said Mikes. “The owners of American Property Management Services were entrusted to steward the hard-earned resources of the communities. Instead, they stole millions to buy expensive houses and jet airplanes. We will help these communities recover and want all associations and homeowners to know how to protect themselves from this kind of theft.”
